

CLASS TEST-2

Department
Roll Number
Subject
Date
Time
Contact No. Cell

What is a memorandum? Explain its purpose in business communication.

Write a memorandum to inform employees about a meeting scheduled for next week.

What are the main parts of a memorandum?

Differentiate between a memorandum and a business letter.

Why is a memorandum used for internal communication in an organization?

What is public speaking and why is it important?

What are the main qualities of an effective public speaker?

Explain the steps involved in preparing a public speech.

What are the common barriers to effective public speaking?

How can a speaker overcome stage fear during public speaking?

Write short notes on the importance of body language in public speaking.

What role does audience analysis play in effective public speaking?

Explain the basic principles of effective writing.

Why are writing techniques important in professional communication?

Discuss the role of clarity and conciseness in writing.

Explain any five techniques for effective writing.

How can a writer make their writing clear and effective?

What are telephone skills in business communication?

Why are telephone skills important in professional communication?

Explain the basic rules for effective telephone communication in business.

What are the common mistakes to avoid during business telephone conversations?

How should a person answer a business call professionally?

Explain the importance of tone and clarity in telephone communication.

THE END