

Q1

Ans The seven C's of effective communication are principle that make communication effective.

- 1) Clarity - Message should be clear
- 2) Conciseness - Use few & simple words
- 3) Completeness - Provide all necessary info
- 4) Correctness - Information & grammar should be correct
- 5) Concreteness - Message should be specific & factual
- 6) Consideration - Think about the receiver's feelings
- 7) Courtesy - Be polite & respectful.

Q2

Ans: A memo is mainly used for Internal Communication within an organization. It is used to share information, instruction, instructions, or announcement among employees.

Q3

Ans: Verbal communication is communication through spoken words such as meetings or conversation.

Techniques:

- Clear speech
- Eye contact
- Use of visual
- Confident voice

Q4

Ans Principles include clarity, conciseness, completeness and ease -
-sy.
They help reduce mis understandings, improve relationships,
& increase efficiency in personal & professional life

Q5

- Ans • Maintain natural eye contact
• Do not ~~stare~~ stare continuously.
• Look at the audience
• Show confident

Q6

Ans : Feedback is the response given by the receiver after receiving a message.

Q7

Ans Communication helps sharing information, coordi-
-ate work, & make decisions. without communication

Q8

Ans Hearing: Ability to hear sound naturally listening: Paying attention & understanding the message.

Q9

Ans Listening helps understand messages correctly, improves relationship, & reduce mis understanding in both personal & professional life

Q 10

Attentive listening help people to hear important information like platform num, delays & schedule changes at air ports, or railway station

Q 11

Letter:-

Audience: Typically external to the organization or for very formal internal communications.

Formality: formal in tone & structure. It usually includes a full date, recipient's address

Purpose: To establish a formal record convey official information, build relationship or communicate with external parties

Memo

Audience: Primarily internal to the organization

Formality: less formal than a letter, more direct & concise. It uses headings like TO, FROM, DATE & SUBJECT. It doesn't require a formal closing

Purpose: To inform, persuade or instruct employees within the company about policies, procedure, events etc

Q12

- Ensures Understanding: Visual cues means Voice is key for comprehension
- Professionalism: Projects competence & credibility
- Reduces Mis Communication: Prevents errors & repetitions
- Efficiency: Speeds up conversation

Q13

- 1) Intro: Hooks the reader, provides background & states thic statement
- 2) Body Paragraph: Develop & support the thesis with evidence; each paragraph on one main idea
- 3) Conclusion: Summarizes main points, restates the thesis, & provides closure

Q14

Precis: Aims for an exact, proportional & object reproduction the original argument & structure

- Summarizing: Provides a general overview of main ideas, more flexible in relation & rephrasing, purpose driven

Q15

- Understand & Retain: Actively process & remember info
- Identify Key info: Pinpoint essential
- Organize Thoughts: Structure complex info
- Prepare for Review: Create study guides for later

Q16

MEMORANDUM

To: All employees

From: [your name / Dept]

Date: March 11, 2026

Subject: Scheduled system maintenance

Please note: System maintenance this Saturday March 14, 2026, 9:00 AM - 5:00 PM will make all email unavailable.

Thank you

Sincerely
(your name)

Q17

